Alba (Scotland): Past and present

State of Gàidhlig in 1891:

Apart from the very young the Gàidhlig language was almost universally spoken by locally born inhabitants. Bilingualism, however, was much the norm rather than an exception. Gàidhlig monolingual persons were more or less confined to the older generation.

The language, however, was not the preferred tongue in every quarter. Whereas 90 % of people in Sràid an Rubha (Point Street) spoke Gàidhlig, just 40 % in Rathad a'Gharaidh (Garden Road) did so. On the other hand roughly 80 % spoke the language independent of occupation of the residents.

Area description:

The district described forms the south-western part of the harbour town of Steòrnabhagh (Stornoway) on the Hebridean island of Leòdhas (Lewis). In 1891 this area was administered by the County Council of Ros is Cromba (Ross & Cromarty).

The population in this part of the town was occupied with a variety of trades as Steòrnabhagh was not only the natural centre of island society but also a very important fishing and shipping location.

Background of Gàidhlig (Scottish Gaelic) Local Profiles:

The 1891 census was the first such enumeration exercise with an unequivocal language question. After more than 100 years the original census forms are publicly available for detailed analysis. During research concerned with the “Gàidhlig (Scottish Gaelic) Local Studies” a vast number of such local statistics have been gathered about the Gàidhlig speaking population of Scotland in that year. As many of these results could not be included in the reports these concise fact-sheets are a welcome way to publish some of the “local gems”. Place of birth and Gàidhlig speaking:

The vast majority of those born in the Gaidhealtachd was bilingual – a few older persons did not even speak English. On the other hand only a small proportion of people born elsewhere were returned as speaking also Gàidhlig besides their English mother tongue.

Notes:

¹ Born either in Stornoway or in the adjacent parishes of Barvas, Lochs and Uig (all Ross & Cromarty).

² Born in other parishes of Scotland with more than 50 % Gàidhlig speakers in the 1891 census.

Speakers according to place of birth (1) nearby¹ (2) in remaining Gaidhealtachd ², or (3) elsewhere

Remarks:

1. In total 20 usually resident persons were enumerated as speaking “Gaelic only”. Most of them were women and originated mainly from rural parishes of the island.
2. In original census report terms this enumeration district had a population of 447 persons of all ages. 309 enumerated inhabitants spoke “Gaelic and English” and 22 persons were reported as monolingual Gàidhlig speakers. These figures lead to an “official” share of Gàidhlig speakers of 74.0 %. A comparison with the more realistic statistics of this fact-sheet reveals that this percentage was a considerable under-estimate of 6.2 % mainly caused by the inclusion of under-three olds and visitors in the official population base.
